The little tots are taking great interest and seem to enjoy the experience of going to school and learning the simple lessons in house building—on paste-board—and other exercises immensely. With the support that the people of Campbell seem willing to give this new enterprise we anticipate its continuance as a permanent and successful institution.

A Painful Accident.

On last Saturday James Dorety received quite a painful injury by a kick from a colt which he was leading to water. He had just taken it out of the barn to the watering trough and, as it afterward proved, gave it a little too much rope for it suddenly whirled and gave him a heavy blow in the fleshy part of his thigh cutting quite a gash and seriously disabling him. The colt is not considered vicious and was probably simply in a playful mood but the blow from its heels was none the less effective, as it will be some days before Mr. Dorety will have fully recovered from the injuries sustained.

Removal Notice.

New machinery has been secured and the various departments fitted up in first class style. The equipment is all new and modern thus insuring to patrons only the best and most satisfactory work. The citizens of Campbell should show their appreciation of the enterprise of the White Star Laundry Company by giving them their patronage. Every cent which goes out of Campbell for laundry work is money taken out of circulation as far as our town is concerned but if left at home it goes to build up home industry and continues to circulate among our own people.

Obituary.

DIED—At her home in Campbell on Saturday April 11th, of pneumonia, Mrs. Elenor J. (Vanderhoof) Watson, aged 62 years, 5 months and 21 days.

Mrs. Watson was born in New York state October 20, 1833. She was married to Mr. Albert Watson, her surviving and deeply bereaved husband January 1, 1857. Four children, a son and daughter in Campbell, and two sons in Iowa lament the departure of their beloved mother. Nearly forty years of happy married life bear witness in their treasured memories to the sweet and tender earthly ties which death has now severed. The funeral services were held in the Congregational church on Monday afternoon, the address being rounded on words of her own selection viz: John XIV-2—"In my father's house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you." The large attendance at the services, and the many and beautiful floral gifts told of the esteem of the departed and of the sympathy for those so sadly bereaved. The interment took place at the Los Gatos cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their kindly sympathy and help in our late bereavement.

A. WATSON,
L. C. WATSON,
MRS. CHAS. TOWNSEND.

He preaches to the times who says: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I, the son of God, will give you rest." These are the eternal times; the so-called times are flickering moments, changing their throb and pulse by an incalculable process; but the eternal need is forgiveness, the everlasting want is rest for the soul.—
Joseph Parker.

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it, but we must sail and not drift, nor lie an anchor.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Santa Clara Association.

The District Association of the Congregational church convened at Campbell on last Tuesday evening continuing through Wednesday, day and evening. Delegates were present from the various churches in the district as follows: Santa Cruz, Rev. J. G. Taylor and Mrs. J. W. Linscott; Soquel, Rev. Linder, B. Archibald; Pacific Grove, Rev. W. W. Ferrier; San Juan, Mrs. C. E. Meade, Mrs. L. S. Cole; Campbell, Rev. Wm. Windsor, Mrs. O. N. Bagwill, E. E. White; Saratoga, Rev. W. H. Cross; San Jose, Rev. H. M. Tenny; Redwood City, Rev. L. D. Rathburn; Pescadero, Rev. and Mrs. E. Hopskins; Bonny Doon, Rev. C. N. Adams, T. R. Thayer; San Mateo; Rev. E. B. Jones, Mrs. Dresbach. There were also present Prof. J. W. Lincott of Santa Cruz, Rev. W. Friar D. D., Rev. J. R. Harrison, Superintendent of Home Missionary work for California and Rev. L. L. Wert, Superintendent of Sabbath School work for California. The various sessions were well attended and full of interest. The subject of Missions was the theme of several very able addresses and the interest manifested in this topic shows an active missionary spirit working through the various branches of the church.

The delegates were entertained by the members of the Congregational church of Campbell, while attending the convention. On Wednesday at 12 M. and 6 P. M. a collation was served by the ladies of the church in their new dining parlors.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at San Juan, Santa Cruz County.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

THE VISITOR AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

That the VISITOR has great value as an advertising medium will not be questioned by those who know the class of people among whom it circulates. The citizens of Campbell and the country tributary thereto are very widely known as the most prosperous and enterprising people of the banner county of the State. They are a thrifty people, not given to extravagance, but as a rule able to buy and pay for what they need. The merchants who secure their trade get their best customers. The VISITOR, being the only local paper, is by far the best means of reaching and securing their trade and no where will your advertising bring you better returns for the money invested. Write for rates to the CAMPBELL WEEKLY VISITOR, Campbell, Cal.

THE Carnival Committee is doing good work. It deserves great credit.

THE fire committee are pushing the matter of new fire apparatus and our equipment will soon be made more complete.

CAMPBELL needs a new depot just as badly as ever—it also looks as though it was just as far from getting it as ever.

IN answer to a young man who asked Whitelaw Reid for a list of the best books on business he is said to have answered: "The best single treatise is the New Testament, next to this is the Book of Proverbs of Solomon. One of the best business men I have ever known memorized the entire Book of Proverbs at twenty-two."

NEAR as we are to the Lick Observatory no arrangement has been made to instruct the rising generation in astronomy. Some good illustrative lectures, if well managed could not fail to awaken interest and impress scientific facts on the memory even of the least reflective. These lectures should be delivered in all the towns of the county and especially in San Jose. —Gilroy Advocate.

A good suggestion. The people of Campbell would greatly enjoy such a lecture and it would be of much value to the students in the community in furnishing information on the progress going on in astronomic discovery.

THE REASON THEY FAIL.

The man who purchases an article for one dollar and sells it for ten cents advance, may delude himself in the belief that he made ten per cent on the transaction, but such is not the case. Rent, taxes, insurance, interest on investments, wear and tear, traveling, book-keeping, stationery and other miscellaneous expenses must be deducted from the ten cents. We know quite a number of men doing a small business on the ten per cent basis, who wonder why they are always hard up. These are the men who fail without knowing just why. —The Furniture Journal.

THE FIRST CHERRIES.

A box of new cherries was received in Chicago from California April 9th. They were very nice and brought $1 per pound. This shipment came through fifteen to twenty days earlier than ever before. Last year it was about the 29th of April when the first arrived. While this introduces the new crop, a general movement will not set in for some time.

The fruit growers should recognize the fact that the early crop pays the profits and do their best to be prepared with early berries and fruits so as to get the cream of the market. —S. C. Journal.

An Agreeable Waiter.

They have been telling me about a famous head waiter in a great restaurant in this town, and I suppose all the men know of him, who has grown rich lending money.

I never could get rich that way, I am sure.

This particular philanthropist is called Philip, possibly because that's his name, and any hard pressed individual whom he knows, or knows about, need never be short of funds.

Sometimes a man will forget to go to the bank or won't have his checkbook with him, while he has immediate use for some money, and that is an awkward state of affairs. So he hies him away to Philip.

"Philip, can you let me have a hundred until tomorrow? You know me, Mr. — of — street."

"Oui, monsieur, with pleasure."

So that chasm is bridged.

But when the hundred is paid next day Philip expects to find it a hundred and ten, and if he doesn't he does not look kindly upon the borrower or have the funds upon the second application. At least that is what I hear.

Of course no money is loaned to any one of doubtful credit, so I can easily see how Philip's comfortable fortune can have been acquired. —New York Recorder.

An Investigating Horse.

On last Wednesday evening Dr. Fowler the physician of the Loma Prieta Lodge of Foresters came to Campbell to attend the regular meeting of that order at Odd Fellows Hall carefully hitching and blanketing his horse near the hall entrance on Central avenue. Some time during the evening the horse concluded to untie himself and look around the village—just to pass the time perhaps—but greatly to the annoyance of his owner who came out of the meeting expecting to find a faithful charger waiting to take him to his home in Santa Clara and was confronted by nothing more than a cold and lifeless hitching post. He very fortunately however, found a "good Samaritan" who offered to take him to the place of his abode so without waiting for his own horse to get through wandering, he wended his way homeward. The following morning the horse was found in the back part of Mr. Phillipi's orchard north of town where it probably went to investigate the extent of the injury to the peach crop by the heavy frost of the night previous. The horse and buggy were found in good condition but the blanket with which the horse had been covered was somewhat delapidated.

LATER—We learn that a whip and robe worth seven or eight dollars were in the buggy but as yet have not been found. Mr. Fowler believes the articles were stolen from the rig and the horse let loose for a blind.

The Literary Symposium.

The Campbell Literary Symposium held an entertainment out of the usual order on last Friday evening the whole evening being devoted to the subject of mines and mining. A number of old miners and others who once were interested in mining operations were present to explain the different methods employed in transferring the precious metals from the interior of the earth to the pockets of the fortune seeker. The talks given were of deep interest and the questions asked by various persons in the audience brought out much valuable information on the subject. The next meeting of the Symposium will be announced in the near future.

You can't afford to lose your temper every time you have reason to. —Atchison Globe.

The Piety of Washington.

The doubt has never been raised in any respectable quarter that Washington was not a man of strong religious faith. One would need to read hardly more than his farewell message to be convinced of that. In that document, it will be remembered, Washington distinctly says that religion and morality are indissoluble and that the two together constitute the main props of civil government. But a writer now comes forward in The Lutheran Quarterly to claim and to prove not only that the greatest of Americans was a religious man, but that his pre-eminence as a general, statesman and leader was due not to genius, which has never been claimed; not to learning, of which he had no large store; not to eloquence, of which he had less, but to moral excellence and especially to piety.

"Washington was a Christian," says this writer. "Study his private life among the shades of Mount Vernon. Contemplate his career as a soldier at the head of the army. Scrutinize the acts of his administration as chief magistrate of the republic, and you will constantly find proofs that he was governed by Christian principle. If we exclude the molding power of Christianity in the formation of Washington's character, we can neither account for it nor interpret it. Depraved human nature cannot bring forth, under the most favorable circumstances, such a man, such a hero, such a ruler, such a patriot and such a statesman. Heathenism in the highest stages of civilization attained in all ages and lands has produced no character approximating to that of Washington."

The Circulating Barber.

Now it is the traveling barber. He is located on the upper west side and differs from the ordinary every day barber in that he calls at the homes of fairly well to do business men at fixed hours of the day, and for an extra compensation shows his ability as a tonsorial artist. The class of customers that this visiting barber has is the envy of all the shop barbers for miles around his territory. How he does it is best explained in his own language. Here's what he told me: "The business of a visiting barber resembles that of a fortune teller in that it must be personal. My charges per week to each customer range from $2 up. I number among my customers bankers, brokers, lawyers and young men of leisure. In all I shave and otherwise attend to 25 customers each day, three of them before dinner in the evening. I do not know if there are any other visiting barbers in the city, nor do I care. All that I know is that I make money enough out of it to keep a horse and rig to take my wife driving on Sunday. While I was a slave of the shop I never did that. The man who patronizes the visiting barber is sensible. It may be a little more expensive, but it is cleaner, more convenient and satisfactory all around."—New York Letter.

Women Four Hundred Years Ago.

The home life of the upper classes in the fifteenth century was the achievement and possession of the women. They made it and they enjoyed it, and although the man was the lord, the master, the cause of the institution, it was not he who animated it or who stamped upon it the impress of his spirit. His life was passed in camps and courts. A succession of foreign and civil wars in both France and England kept the knights in the saddle during the greater part of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, and the ladies, left with the children and the servants in the manor houses and chateaux, directed the domestic life of the time.

The Lady Joan Berkeley in the whole 42 years of her married life never made a journey of more than ten miles except in going from one of her mansion houses to the other. "She did not humor herself with the vain delights of London," or at least if she did it must have been surreptitiously, for there is no record of it in the account books of the family. One hopes, though, that the conscientious matron slipped away for at least one visit to the wicked capital, or from behind her veil witnessed with beating heart one gay tournament. There is such a thing as being too good.—Emily B. Stone in Lippincott's.

Dear Sirs:—My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Alliance, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1895.

Acme Cycle Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Dear Sirs:—Having given my wheel a good trial, am ready to say I am exceedingly well pleased and thank you very kindly for the favor and privilege you have given me. I showed the wheel to one of our prominent bicycle agents, who did his best to sell me a wheel, and he said after taking a short ride on it that it was a fine wheel; and I know if the material is as good as the finish, I will never regret my bargain.

Yours truly

SEPT BRATON.
